

VOICE-OVER DEMO PRODUCTION

A voice-over commercial demo that gets you the voice-over agent and lucrative bookings you want is a skillfully engineered mix of extracts from radio and TV commercials. It runs no more than two and a half minutes, or even less. With 6-12 carefully chosen pieces, often just a few seconds long, you demonstrate the range of your skills. When I produce that all-important first demo for a beginner (for examples, listen to several such clients from my website at www.paulmeier.com/voice-over/), here's what happens:

1. You, the client, collect "copy": a mix of real commercials, and print ads from glossy magazines. Choose pieces you like and think you can perform well.
2. You type these into a script (see sample below) that ends up with as many as 20 pieces, and e-mail it to me.
3. I edit the script, make suggestions, and e-mail it back to you. You work some more and send it to me again. We might repeat this process several times.
4. Once we have a really good script, we do our first Skype-coaching session. I record the session at my end and put the recording on your personal webpage (see <http://www.paulmeier.com/protected-your-name/>) so that you can listen to it over and over. You perform the script; I direct you this way and that, finding out your strengths. Based on this session, we make further adjustments to the script until we have exactly the right script for you. We will have one or two more Skype sessions until we have the right mix of pieces rehearsed to perfection.
5. We produce the final script. Everything we've done to this point ensures that when you get to the studio – the expensive part of the process – you are thoroughly comfortable and can perform to your personal best.
6. Armed with the very best script possible, rehearsed to a high standard by Skype, it's time to go to the studio. I work with one of the best studios and one of the best engineers in the world, in Kansas City, Missouri: Don Martin at Evolution Audio (www.evolutionaudio.com). Recording your performance takes about an hour and a half, sometimes longer. Editing, laying in music and effects, and mixing it down to the final product is done later. Within a week, you will have a brilliantly performed and produced voice-over demo. You're ready to send it to agents and producers, have it hosted by one of the online casting services (www.voice123.com, for example), and break into one of the most lucrative fields in the world for a performer.

OPTIONS

Working face-to-face with Don Martin in Kansas City is the best, and often the cheapest, option. But there are options:

- Thanks to modern technology, we don't have to be in the same city. We can book an hour in a good studio near you, and via a special kind of internet connection, record you here while you are performing there! We use SourceConnect to make this magic happen.
- A cheaper option – still a good one – is for me to direct you by Skype in your studio; the local engineer records you and then sends the raw recordings to my Kansas City engineer for the final mixing and editing (a hugely important part of the process). Alternatively, the mixing can be done by your local engineer, while I can be involved by approving the work after he or she e-mails me an mp3 of the work-in-progress.

- The cheapest is for you to use me simply for the first stage of the process (creating the best possible script and rehearsing you to a high performance standard). At this point, you could book a local studio where the engineer would record and produce the final product for you. However, engineers vary widely in their skills in producing demos, and I can't guarantee the final result if you choose this option.

COSTS

The first stage of the process, steps 1-5, is the most important, and yet the cheapest! So many people don't have the guidance and rehearsal they need before they pay for expensive studio time and either take more time in the studio than necessary or fail to get the best product. Working with me via Skype and e-mail costs $550, based on two- or three-hour Skype-coaching sessions; script consultation via e-mail is included in that price. The Demo Production Package from Evolution Audio costs $850. (All amounts are in US$.)

5. Listen hard enough and you can hear the spirits of those who came before you. The West is alive in Wyoming. It's a place of endless sky and storied past. There's a sense of adventure so thick you'll have to swat it away. From Mystical Devil's Tower across undiscovered places to historic Yellowstone, with hitchin' posts in between, Wyoming is the last way west. And all you have to do is look for it. Wyoming. Forever West.

6. Only one out of 100 barrels of our whiskey is hand-chosen to become Jack Daniel's Single Barrel Whiskey. Ironically, these special barrels live not a life of luxury, but one of chilling cold and sweltering heat in the top floors of our barrelhouses. Inside our charred oak barrels, a relationship is nurtured with the weather, the whiskey, and the wood. Summer heat opens the wood, absorbing the whiskey. In winter, the wood contracts, releasing the whiskey back into the barrels. Over time, this cycle imbues the whiskey with a variety of color and flavor nuances. Yet time is not the judge here. That distinction belongs to Master Distiller, Jimmy Bedford, who ultimately decides if the character of a single barrel is that of Jack Daniel's Single Barrel.

7. Linger in the deep end of moisture. Olay Body Wash plus body butter ribbons. Embrace your skin in the Olay body wash streamed with a ribbon of indulgent body butter. The rich lather infuses skin with a satin like beauty that lasts from one shower to the next.

8. From Romance to Comedy to everything in between, we've got it covered. Just use your remote to choose from a library of over 100 free movies ready to watch whenever you are. ON DEMAND with Comcast Digital Cable. It's Comcastic!

9. As the leaves begin to turn . . . so do our thoughts. To brisk fall days. And cool autumn eves. This fall, we're all about living in layers. The layers of your clothing – and the layers of your life. At Eddie Bauer, living in layers allows you to be comfortable indoors, outdoors, and in every aspect of your day. It means easier transitions from work to lying low at home, or getting away on weekends. The Eddie Bauer Autumn Collection. When comfort is key.

10. Are you a hero or are you an alien chew toy? You've got .25 seconds to decide. When it's up to you to save your girlfriend, your people, and the Earth, you want all the help you can get. ATI Radeon X1900 series graphics cards deliver the best performance, most realistic 3D architecture, and the edge you need to make sure these alien freaks know they messed with the wrong planet. 11. How does it feel to climb Everest? Breathe through a straw and climb one hundred flights of stairs. It's just like that. Except you have frostbite, you're dehydrated, and fighting hypothermia. Maybe even hallucinating. Why would five amateur climbers go through all this? Find out in the most intense climb ever caught on film: Everest: Beyond the Limit. An all-new series starts Tuesday Nov, 14, 10 p.m. Let's all discover how far we can go. Discovery Channel.

12. Relaxes like a back massage, but costs a lot less and lasts a lot longer. We could all use a little break. That's why AirWick designed a range of aromatherapy products with a unique blend of essential oils that will revitalize your spirits. AirWick. It's good to be home.

13. Soothing rest for mind and body. Peaceful, gentle sleep. Isn't that what you long for? That's what Lunesta is all about: helping most people fall asleep quickly, and stay asleep all through the night. It's not only non-narcotic, it's approved for long-term use. So you can feel comfortable taking it night after night. Talk to your doctor first before using sleep aids for extended periods. Ready for sweet slumber? Just leave the rest to Lunesta.

14. My girlfriend complains we don't travel enough, so I asked her, "How would you like to go to Italy in just 15 minutes?" She didn't think it could be done, but then I made her Barilla Linguine with Barilla Marinara Sauce. Talk about quick, easy, and delicious! Pasta that's always firm, tender, and NEVER, sticks or clumps – topped with chunks of ripe tomatoes and olive oil, fresh garlic, and onions! It's a quick and easy meal that makes you feel like you're in Italy! Try Barilla Pasta and Pasta Sauce. You'll see how Italy is only 15 minutes away. Anytime.

15. Congress is at it again, playing games with health care, and you're the big loser. Congress passes a bill with new regulations and new lawsuits. Even employers could be sued – just for providing health insurance. Then, Congress makes you pay – increasing your premium by $200. A few lawyers hit the jackpot – and the rest of us are out two hundred bucks. If you can't pay, you can't play, and you'll be one of the two million who lose their health insurance. It's time for Congress to stop gambling with your health care.

16. She did what? He didn't! Sometimes, the greatest dish isn't the gossip. Invite Cuisinart into your kitchen (or what you're calling your kitchen) and discover how easy it is to make great stuff for friends. Get the secrets over schmoozing; tidbits over Thai-burgers; and get the four one one over frozen margaritas. Let your Cuisinart Griddler and Blender get in to the mix, and see how gossip can leave a great taste in your mouth. When the burgers and 'ritas are as good as the gossip!

17. Bravia LCD TV. The world's first television for men and women. It's true: Men and women can actually agree on a television. Specifically, the only one that can deliver both performance and style in Sony Full HD no matter what you choose to watch. So, while men and women may like different features of the Bravia, there's one thing they both like: the world's most powerful HD experience. Sony Bravia: the ceasefire of the sexes.

18. You always went for the tall, dark, and handsome types. So, who'd have thought the love of your life would be short and bald? Having a baby changes everything. Johnson and Johnson.

19. In Italy, wine is an everyday part of life. Whether at home or out in the village, people share a glass of wine and a bit of conversation as a way to end their day. So, put the day behind you with a glass of our new Bella Sera Rosso, and savor the evening like the Italians do. It's going to be a beautiful evening. It's going to be a Bella Sera.

20. Many try to predict what the future will hold. At Lexus, we've already taken one step toward the future of luxury vehicles. Our LF-S concept car embodies the next evolutionary step in our design philosophy: L-Finesse. The goal of L-Finesse is to build a luxury sedan that's designed around you. The sleek lines skillfully combine dynamism and elegance, while surrounding a comfortable, driver-friendly interior. Innovations include a transparent roof that incorporates security illumination. This groundbreaking luxury sedan also features a V8 gasoline engine and high-output electric motor for a hybrid 4WD. The LF-S is where luxury is going. And that's a future we can all get excited about.
